Creative, innovative and objective is the way I would describe the design and visual branding produced by Ryan Wilson of Raw Creative.

Ryan has the ability to listen, to interpret the brief and then develop an understanding of relevance in the communication environment appropriate for that organisations's product, service or brand. I have always valued the empathetic manner in which Ryan is able to provide creative solutions.

We have frequently tested his abilities against much bigger agencies and found the level of personal commitment we received from Ray Creative to be superior and to represent better value.

My association with Ryan goes back 10 years and I have no hesitation recommending his services to any prospective client who want quality and creativity.
